Occupation

After living in Niagara-on-the-Lake for a few years, Alvin and Trudy moved to St. Catharines, Ontario abt 1952. Alvin secured a job with the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, Welland Canal, Lock 1 as Lockmaster of Lock 1 (near Port Weller Dry Docks). He retired 1986 after 35 years.

Alvin was also a profession scuba diver and had his own business apart from working for the St. Lawrence Seaway.

He instructed Scuba Diving for some years at Prudhommes Hotel indoor swimming pool, Vineland, Ontario as well as handling numerous diving jobs locating bodies, lost equipment, underwater repairs, including repairs for the St. Lawrence Seaway in the canal.

On one particular diving job in Lake Erie, Ontario, he located an anchor. It was retrieved and brought onboard the ship he was working for at the time and arranged for it to be brought to his home by tow truck. The smell was unbearable and created a number of complaints. After researching, it was determined the anchor belonged to ????? Shipping Company of Buffalo, New York. (Guessing age of the anchor at the time was 40-50 years old – built abt 1930)

The anchor was mounted on the front boulevard at home in St. Catharines with chain surrounding the area. Dad hired a man to weld the remaining chain to create a railing at the front of the house. That railing still exists although the home was sold after mom passed away in 2015.

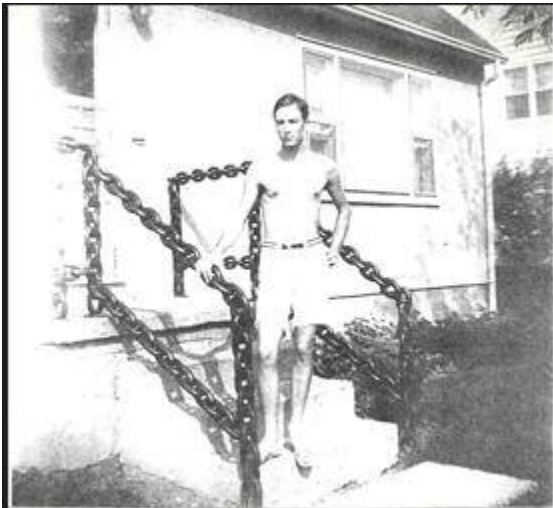

After dad's passing in June 1991, the anchor was donated by my mother, to the Niagara Falls Sea Cadets where restoration was done and it was mounted at Drummond Road, Niagara Falls, Ontario. I have since been advised the cost of facilities was no longer feasible so the Sea Cadets secured another location and the anchor was donated to the St. Lawrence Seaway before the Sea Cadets relocated. (The Seaway is unaware of the anchor's whereabouts as of today)

Alvin was an Active Duplicate Bridge player. His name is mounted on many trophies in Ontario and New York State.

He was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion Talbot Trail, Branch 613 Fonthill, Ontario.

Some chain attached to the anchor was used to create stair railing at front of home.

Character

Alvin was well liked, at his work, in his Scuba Diving business and by many family and friends.

He came to know Captains of ships that came through the canal. When Alvin was off duty and the Captain had a Pilot on board to guide the ship through the locks, he and Trudy would accept an invite to board and sail through a few locks enjoying the Captain's hospitality. A taxi took them back to their car at the end of the evening. Getting on and off the ship meant climbing a rope ladder!

Reading books of WWII and ships (Naval and commercial) captivated his attention throughout his life. There was quite a collection of these books at the time of his passing. They were shared as treasures to grandsons.

Alvin was so intrigued with the history of WWII and his Navy service experience that he wanted to visit and tour Germany and Holland. He arranged with one particular Captain to take him aboard, allowing him to work for his passage on the ship to Germany (abt 1971).

He said he walked leaning forward for a week before straightening up after sailing ocean to Germany.

This was a lifelong wish of Alvin's to travel as he did working on a ship; to see the bunker where Hitler was last alive as well as the many historic sites he read about for so many years in East and West Germany. He also wanted to see Holland.

Trudy emigrated from Holland to Canada with her mother, father, sister and two brothers in 1948. Left behind was one brother and his wife as well as many other family and friends. So, after Alvin toured East/West Germany and spent time visiting family in Holland, he returned home. The end of his journey was flying by jet plane home to Canada.
